

License

You can find and download all files from mockupful.com, which are owned by the site owner and the mockupful.com brand. Every file on the website comes with a Royalty Free license, allowing for use in both commercial and private projects.

You are free to use any files downloaded from mockupful.com in your projects, whether it's for you or your client. These files can be utilized digitally, such as on the internet, banners, or in portfolios, as well as in printed formats like press advertisements, flyers, and banners. Moreover, they can even be used on television and other mass media platforms.

Limitations

You are not allowed to share or sell the files downloaded from mockupful.com as PSD files or any other open format. These files should only be distributed on mockupful and cannot be shared on any other websites. This rule applies to both modified and unmodified files. Remember, you cannot separate the mockups from this license.

Short F.A.Q.

1. Can I feature your mockup on my website to showcase my private or company portfolio?

Sure thing! Feel free to utilize our mockup on your website for either a personal or company portfolio. Just make sure to tweak the files on your own computer and upload them as non-editable image files (like JPG, PNG, GIF, etc.). There are no restrictions on using our mockups in this way.

2. How do I send my files to be printed, while complying with the license?

Just like the technique explained earlier, if you save altered files in a non-editable format like JPG, PNG, GIF, etc., you are free to share them. You can even include them in a PDF file (or any other file needed by a printing company, such as eps, indd, etc.). Make sure that the attached files are flattened and not editable (flattened PDF and TIFF files can also be considered as closed files).

3. Your mockups are fantastic! I'd love to feature them on my website. Is that okay with you?

The mockups we create and share can only be distributed through mockupful.com. You can always share a link to our website or a specific mockup.

4. Can I upload a modified PSD file saved as a JPG to a stock or micro-stock site?

Nope, that won't work. Even if the file is modified, it still belongs to us and can't be shared or sold on stock websites.

5. Is it okay if I charge my clients a fee for converting a PSD file to a JPG file before sending it to them?

Sure thing! We definitely support and encourage you to utilize our files to generate some income.

If you're experiencing any issues with our mockups, make sure to check out our guideline for assistance.

Check out this guide on using mockups at:
mockupful.com/how-to-use-mockup